Chloe is an associate in the firm's litigation group, where she specializes in complex business and securities litigation and class actions.

Chloe recently relocated to Portland from Los Angeles, where she was an associate at a national firm representing institutional investor clients in securities fraud, corporate governance, and shareholder rights litigation. She was previously an associate in the litigation and arbitration group of a premier international law firm, where she specialized in commercial, securities, and appellate litigation. As a law student, Chloe clerked for the Civil Division of the U.S. Attorney's Office for the Southern District of California.

During law school, Chloe served as Associate Editor for the Michigan Journal of Law Reform and worked as a student attorney and supervisor for the Workers' Rights Clinic, representing Michigan workers denied unemployment benefits in administrative hearings and on appeal. She also served as a student attorney for the Child Advocacy Clinic and studied international law at the University of Amsterdam.
