

Healthcare Litigation

Stoll Berne attorneys have litigated practically every type of healthcare dispute, ranging from medical malpractice cases to complex antitrust matters. Our representation for healthcare providers has involved peer review disputes, partnership dissolutions, and reimbursement matters. We also represent both providers and patients in disputes with health insurance companies.

Our clients range from small group practices to major regional integrated delivery systems and a prominent medical school. Because our firm has extensive real estate experience, we also counsel our healthcare clients regarding their acquisition, lease, and related real estate issues. Our attorneys with additional experience with internal investigations are often called upon to handle false claims, fraudulent billing, and qui tam issues.

From Price-Fixing to Monopolistic Practices, We Handle All Aspects of Antitrust Litigation
