Keil is a shareholder in the firm and a trial lawyer who regularly represents government entities, individuals and businesses in all manner of complex disputes, with a focus on securities and financial fraud, environmental, class action, healthcare, and shareholder and partnership litigation. He has successfully represented clients in jury trials and arbitration hearings and has obtained substantial recoveries and favorable settlements on behalf of his clients in numerous other disputes. Keil currently leads Stoll Berne's team in the CenturyLink Securities Litigation and is a key member of the team pursuing claims on behalf of the State of Oregon, the State of Maryland and the City of Seattle relating to PCB contamination. He was a part of the teams that obtained substantial recoveries on behalf of the State of Oregon as lead plaintiff in securities class actions against JP Morgan Chase and Bank of New York Mellon and in individual securities fraud claims against AIG and Oppenheimer Funds. Keil also helped to obtain multimillion dollar recoveries on behalf of Oregon drivers for FedEx Ground in a class action alleging that FedEx Ground misclassified the drivers as independent contractors and on behalf of former debtors of U.S. Bank in a class action against a debt collection firm alleging violations of the Fair Debt Collection Practices Act. Keil's clients appreciate his tenacious and persistent advocacy for their important interests.
