

Mold and Construction Defect Cases

Stoll Berne represented several building owners prosecuting claims against contractors for defective construction. Many of the claims involved building envelope defects and water intrusion requiring implementation of mold abatement protocols. Stoll Berne worked closely with engineers and toxicologists to develop and implement building envelope correction programs and mold abatement protocols, and then sought recovery for those costs.