

Injunction Against Former Employees

Steve Larson obtained an injunction prohibiting former employees from starting a competing business using a client list and other proprietary information that were improperly taken from the client, a medical device manufacturer.

Case Team

Steve Larson
Attorney