

Daimler National Parts Distribution Realignment Project

Andy Davis and Ben Leedy served as lead counsel for Daimler Trucks North America LLC in the realignment of its national parts distribution network. This project included the development and acquisition of multiple industrial distribution facilities across the United States, each ranging from 250,000 to 400,000 square feet of building area. Several of these facilities were build-to-suit projects for long-term lease by DTNA.
